His experience was that boys so trained had made the most successful men. He certainly thought this was better than keeping boys at school until they lost the desire for work.

This gay old music play, which will close its run at the Royal Victoria Theatre with its original London east, is unusual in so many respects that it commands immediate interest. First, the music-lover will find an evening at "The Beggar's Opera" an experience he will never forget. For the music is composed largely of the popular tunes of the day it was written, and "The Beggar's Opera" you know, was first produced in 1728. Haydin, Doctor Arne, and Purcell, all had much to do with its arrangement and composition, it is really the finest chamber music. The orthestra with the "Beggar's Opera" is inusual in that it is composed principally of ladies, all of them fine artistes. There are no brasses, or permussion instruments, only wood, winds and siring being used, with the exception of the harpsichord and pinnett, which are also found in "The Beggar's Opera" orchestra just as hey were when it, was produced in 728.

The artist will enjoy this old mas-

MacMillan of New York, of rnational Bible Students' Asp., will deliver a lecture in the A. H. MacMillan of New York, of the International Bible Students' Association, will deliver a lecture in the Royal Victoria Theatre to-morrow at three o'clock. His topic will be "Christ's Kingdom Near." The committee in charge made the following announcement to-day:

"Mr. MacMillan recently returned from an eight months 'tour of Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany and Scandinavia. He lectured in most of the large cities of these countries and made a close study of general conditions in Europe.

"In the lecture it will be pointed out that the very conditions which exist in the world to-day were fore-told by Jesus 2,000 years ago and these, in conjunction with the terrible events of the last five years, are signs which mark, the end of the 'old world,' or old social and political order of things, and the time for the establishment of the new 'world wherein dwelleth righteousness.' While mankind has looked forward to the end of the world with fearful foreboding, Mr. MacMillan will prove to the satisfaction of anyone who believes in the Bible that the end of the world is the best thing which could ever happen, but instead of it marking the destruction of the earth, it merely marks the time when mankind will begin enjoy the blessings God has designed to give them on this planet. The lecturer asserts furthermore that there are millions of people living to-day who, when hearing of the requirements of the new age, will be enabled to avoid going down into the tomb and will live on forever."

A. D. Macfarlane to Stand Against Reeve S. J. Drake; Other Names for Election

Election matters in Oak Bay municipality, are of considerable interest. A fight for the reeveship is assured with A. D. Macfarlane standing against S. J. Drake, the present reeve for that position. Two members of the 1921 council will seek re-election to that body, these being Councillors H. F. Hewlett, and H. Davis. New namps mentioned for the council include David Reid, H. Paterson, Ernest C. Hayward, of Hawkins and Hayward; and A. D. Crease, the well-known barrister.

For the single vacancy on the police commission Dr. J. J. White is mentioned, in the place of J. V. Roberts. For the School Board it is understood that all the old board at present officiating will seek re-election. These include Edward Tomlin, Walter E. Adams, P. F. Curtis, and H. F. Hewett; while Robert W. Hibberson will seek election in the place of C. P. W. Schwengers, who has moved out of the municipality. It is not yet known whether there will be a contest for the police commission election or not, only one name being forthcoming at the moment. As the nominations must be in on Monday next all doubts will soon be at rest.

Eamonn de Valera's action in the Dail Eireann, the Evening Telegraph says:

"In flinging his resignation at the heads of the Dall, de Valera undoubtedly affected a sort of coup d'etat. Like Samson, he has laid hold of the pillar of the Dail, bowed himself with all his strength and pulled down the whole house of cards, burying himself and his Cabinet in the debris.

"Ireland stands to-day humilitated before the world. The proceedings of the Dail have been simply a protracted bear garden, passing from one stage of unseemliness to another.

"Is not the attitude of Ulster in refusing to go into such a parliament or submit its destinies to such hands abundantly and completely justified?"

In acknowledging the presentation Mr. Butchart addresses the following message of thanks to those contributing to the gift:

"Mrs. Butchart and I are indeed very happy and very grateful to be the recipients of this splendid address and handsome tea set which you have so kindly tendered us. From the bottom of our hearts we thank you.

"I am entirely at a loss to put into words our heartfelt appreciation of your expressions of good-will, which however undeserved, have I know been offered in all sincerity through you representing the people of Victoria. I may say that it has been our good fortune to reside in this beautiful part of this fair island for nearly eighteen years and it is a deep satisfaction to feel that during that time we have formed many true friendships.

"We deeply appreciate the kindly reference to us and to our garden. The compliments paid to the garden by visitors from many parts of the world are a source of great pleasure to us both, and naturally inspire Mrs. Butchart to further efforts to make the place attractive. From the work she derives a great deal of pleasure, indeed in many ways, we have been abundantly repaid. To the garden we owe this kindly call from you this afternoon and it is our wish that our

Services Which Lapsed During War Being Renewed in

Important announcements concerning greatly extended services and new ships in commission, are made by the Cunard Company, and these plans, in view of their magnitude, are likely to have considerable effect upon ocean travel. Six big new oilburning liners, of an aggregate tonnage of over 100,000 will form the basis for the renewal in the early Spring of services that have lapsed since the war, owing to lack of vessels to maintain them. In addition, the three biggest ships of the fleet will by that time all burn oil fuel, and will form the fastest ocean service in the world.

Canadian Services.

Of particular importance and interest is the resumption of the direct services between this country and Canada. This service, before the war, consisted of ships carrying cabin and third class passengers only, but the idea has been perfected and the Canadian service will now contain ships of three different types, appealing to all types of travellers. The Liverpool, Queenstown, Quebec, Montreal service will be maintained by the Tyrrhenia of 17,000 tons, carrying rist, second and third class passengers; the Ausonia of 15,000 tons, carrying cabin and third class, and the Albania of 13,000 tons, carrying cabin passengers only. third class, and the Albania of 13,000 tons, carrying cabin passengers only. To the London-Canada service the Andania and Antonia have been allocated, both of them of 15,000 tons and carrying cabin and third class passengers. Passengers in this service all embark at Southampton, and the ships call at Cherbourg westbound to embark Continental passengers, and at Plymouth and Cherbourg eastbound.

All these ships have been designed specially for the Canadian trade and carry a big quantity of cargo, in addition to a large number of passengers. Like all new Cunarders

Charles Bright Will Be Refunded to Extent of $500

His Honor Judge Lampman in County Court yesterday gave judgement in the suit of Rex versus Charles Bright. Bright was convicted and fined $500 under the Prohibition Act for being in possession of liquor for sale. A conviction with a fine of $500 and confiscation was ordered in the police court when the case came to trial.

His Honor allowed the appeal taken by Bright against the police court conviction and fine, and ordered that the amount of the fine be refunded. The appeal was allowed without costs, as on a motion from C. L. Harrison, eity prosecutor, it was shown that the city had apparent grounds for the original prosecution. Bright's domicle was fitted with a trap door which opened upon the waters of the Harbor, with a ladder running down to the boat that was kept alongside. The whisky, stated appellant, was in this manner usually transferred to the launch for shipment across the Straits, in which business he had formerly been engaged.

"millions now living will never die"

Speaker:

A. H. MacMILLAN

of New York

MR. MacMILLAN has just returned from an eight months' tour of Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany and Scandinavia. He is a very close observer and student and has a fund of intensely interesting information concerning conditions in Europe, Canada and the United States, which greatly strengthens his contention that the old "world" (the old order of things) has ended, and the new "world" is being ushered in.

SIX THOUSAND YEARS of human history is in the past, and despite the boasts of modern civilization that we are slowly evolving to a better state, mankind has just emerged from the most diabolical war of all time. The natural consequence is a lowering of moral and physical standards the world over. Instead of the prophesied "spiritual uplift" and prosperity, the aftermath of the war is a world-wide crime wave, famine, pestilence, social and political disorder and unrest. What is the remedy? What hope is there of a better day? Are the dark clouds of trouble surrounding the world the harbingers of a colossal universal disaster, or will Divine intervention save the race?

PLEA FOR DISARMAMENT.
Ruth Dier.

Peace to thee, O Earth!
Let quietness o'er thee reign;
Nor to evil thoughts give birth,
Nor avarice, greed nor gain.
Oh, Nations, be at rest,
Nor crave another's wealth;
Tear dissension from thy breast
And base desire and stealth.
Put down the warring arms,
Let fiendish fighting cease,
The world wants no alarms
Of war. O, rest in peace.
Thy sons and heroes, he
Each for his country bled,
And gave most willingly
Until thy soil was red
With human gore. Oh, Earth!
Keep peace, let love alone
Prove to thy sons its worth,
Mad evil now dethrone.
Disarmament, one nation's plea
For ten untroubled years,
And then, should this thing be Attained, O, Earth, the tears
Of gratitude from mothers' hearts
Would wet thy bossom and hear
From stormy skies, and sunbeam steal
Upon thy face, Earth, so 'twould be Among thy sons, no matter where
Nor what his nationality.
Calm and peace, not dark despair,
Enhance thy biossoming beauty.
O, Earth, heed thou this prayer.

To Presbyterians.—All Presbyterians willing to help with the singing during the co-operative mission January 8 to 22 are requested to meet Mr. Dunnington, Director of Song at 10.30 Sunday Morning in the lecture room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

"It is true that there is something in this tale about music having charms to soothe the savage beast. I had been whistling, and changed my tune into "The Last Rose of Summer." I felt like that, hurried my pace, and saw the lights of my camp fire in front just as the tip of the moon disappeared. Then I turned and hurled my lime juice bottle in the general direction of the lions, who were now silthering along a few yards behind. There was a scuffled roar, and I ran, as I never ran before. Reaching the camp, I fired back, shot after shot, but hit none of them."

MONTHLY MUSICAL NEW SERVICE TO-MORROW THOUGHT AT ST. COLUMBA TEMPLE The third of the series of musical

services which have recently been held at St. Columba Presbyterian Church, and which have proved of such interest to the people of the community, large crowds turning out to enjoy them, will be given on Sunday evening. Two of the soloists who lately won so much praise for their singing in Handel's Messiah in this church, are again to be heard—Mrs. S. M. Morton and Frank Tupman. Both are too well known to require comment. H. L. Hutchinson's fine bass is also to be heard in "On, On Ye Brave." Three anthems are to be rendered by an augmented choir, among which is to be heard the ever popular, "The Heavens Are Telling." Mr. McConnell is to give the third of his highly appreciated talks on famous hymns, which none should miss. The Oak Bay pastor is at his best in these ten minute talks.

Varsity Loses Main Events in First Day of Sports Carnival

Collegians Beaten By Bays In Lapstreak Race and Then Dropped Senior Basketball Game As Well As Match With Victoria College Hoop Artists; 'Varsity Won Badminton Games and Also Captured Girls' Basketball Battle.

'Varsity's optimistic students awoke this morning to find that they had a hard job ahead of them to-day if they wish to start for home to-morrow victors over local athletes in the annual sports. The collegians finished up yesterday's sports in the hole, losing three out of five events.

'Varsity met defeat in the first event on the programme, the rowing event in the harbor. Last evening their crack basketball teams linked up with three local quintettes and succeeded in winning but one game. Then on came the Badminton heroes and in this match the collegians were successful.

Collegians Doing Well.

Collegians Doing Well.

In all the events the collegians have shown splendid sportsmanship. They have faced the stiffest kind of opposition and while they have been unsuccessful in the bulk of events they have nevertheless proved themselves to be in splendid condition, to have system in all they do and to give their best and play clean. The collegians have been opposed in the main by the pick athletes of the city and it is no disgrace for them to accept defeat from such worthy opponents.

In the rowing event yesterday ifternoon the crews faced the starter at Coffin Island at the entrance to the harbor. They got away to a good start both catching the water together. By the time Laurel Point was reached the Bays were a length in front. Then the collegians got off their course slightly and nearly ir course slightly and nearly ick the wharf, but finally cleared finished strongly.

Throughout the Victoria team had and finished strongly.

Were Rowed Out.

The 'Varsity crew pulled a nice oar. They, were in fine condition, having been in training since the Spring. The Bays were under a disadvantage not having been in a shell for several months, but they had the experience and sufficient stamina to stand the distance. They were rowed out at the finish.

The crews were:

'Varsity—C. Jones, W Coates. Grenville Jones and W. Bamfield.

Bays—Raybone, Lumsden, Walker and Temple.

The officials were as follows: Starter and announcer, Dan O'Sulivan; boat judges, John A. Wickson and T. Jones; finish judges, Frank Frost and A. H. Findley; clerk of course. William Day; timekeeper, W. H. Wilkerson.

Immediately following the conclusion of the rowing event, teams rep-sion of the rowing event, teams rep-resenting the 'Varsity and the J.B.A.

A. played three games of badminton, with the honors in each case going to the visitors. The first match was won by 15 to nil, the second and third, 15-6 and 15-6, respectively. The great speed and staying qualities of the Mainland men were largely responsible for the one-sided score. The teams were: Varsity, J. E. Underhill and A. H. Findley, J. B. A., G. R. Naden and C. S. Cowan.

Baseball Games Good.

Victoria teams last night got the better of the Varsity basketvallers, winding two gards out of the three. They only lost the ladies' event by a few points. Half a thousand spectators crowded the Ligh School gymnasium gallery and there was plenty of excitement.

College Boys Victors.

The Victoria College quintette had an easy victory on the second encounter of the evening, winning by 32-18. Webster, Forbes and Hartley displayed their old-time speed and combination that is a pleasure to behold. The shooting was extremely commendable, all players finding the net from any distance and angle. The defence, too, was good, and Vancouver very rarely hung under the basket as did Webster and Forbes. Basset, of 'Varsity, played a fast, furlous and wily game, his elongated legs making short work of distance. On the whole the game was one of the fastest witnessed here, and although the Victoria boys had the upper hand throughout, Vancouver played a game worthy of their reputation.

Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, protested that the draw does not entitle Tate to the championship. Mullins asserted that last night's bargain fight, at which no admission was charged, was Monday's fight all over again and that by fighting in this bargain bill the two completely cancelled Monday's battle and wiped it off the books as if it never had been. Consequently the draw last night, he declared, left Wills still possessor of the title.

bulge the twine. Against that kind of team-work even the great "Eagle-Eye" can be beaten at nearly every turn.

Good One to Win.

The game was a sparkling one to win. Vancouver tried hard over the whole route but they were closely marked and unable to run at large as has been their pleasure in the past. Mickey MacKay seemed to lose heart quickly when he found that he could not get through and in the last period didn't do much more than make the seventh man on the ice for Vancouver.

Skinner did a lot of fast skating during the evening but he launched few of his bullet shots. Clem Loughlin usually rushed him off into the corner and whispered sweet love songs to him. Clem by the way played in sensational form. He seemed to be rushing up and down all night. He had some trouble handling the puck after crossing the opposition blue line, but at that was rewarded with a single-handed goal before the battle closed.

The Opening Goal.

The Comman the spectacular finish to a great game. Frederickson added the night-cap. He stick-handled beautifully the length of the ice. Mac Hay fell down trying to stop him and Duncan's reach was not long enough. Freddie shot and Lehman toppied over. In stopping quickly the blonde centre-man fell and puck lay between the pair with the net open. Freddie worked hard in the prone position and got his stick to the puck just before Lehman and the feeble shot trickled in.

One minute later the game came to a close, with the fans just as happy as if they had just finished a big Christmas dinner.

The Teams.

Victoria Pohition Vancouver Fowler Goal. Lehman Johnson Defense. Cook Meeking Rover. MacKay

The new combination was forced into action as a result of injuries to Eddie Oathman and Moose Johnson. Lester Patrick worried more grey hairs into his curls when he was confronted with the problem of juggling about his team to offset the mishaps. It was a serious task, because the Millionaires were hitting a terrific pace and Victoria was anxious to pick off last night's game in order to save going into the cellar again. Lester played with his team on a checker-board and when the fans saw the Arles line up last night's defence was the Moose and on right wing stood the al togate form of Wilf Loughlin, estwilide defence man. At rover rested the chunky frame of Harry Meeking, while at right defence was the Moose and on right wing Tompy Dunderdale. Frederickson was at 66 centre ice, Clem Loughlin at left defence while Hee Fowler had to play bunderdale. Frederickson was at 66 centre ice, Clem Loughlin at left defence while Hee Fowler had to play bunderdale. Frederickson was at 67 centre in the story of the players fitted into their positions admirably. Wilf Loughlin, Wilf evened up again.

Things went galley-west for Victoria at the start of the second period. Twenty seconds after Mickey Ion's hooter sounded MacKay got loose for the only time in the game and gave a pass to Harris who beat Fowler with a fast shot.

The Aries were not beaten, just taking an odd snoozer. Then they opened up. Many openings were made but Wilf Loughlin shot weakly. He seemed unable to get into his proper swing to drive the puck. The opening for a score was eventually shand. "Slim" got in and mixed things and his stick-handling was a rare treat.

It seems almost impossible to believe that the Aristocrats could be good without the Moose. Johnson has played sensational hockey for well-nigh on twenty years and has always been consistent. In late years his nose-dives have played havoc with opposition attacks, but it must be admitted that on the offensive he Moose has slowed up. On his showing last night Mecking proved a better rover than Johnson. Harry is itreless and no man ever slips around him, without having the little tiger on his back.

Four Men Not Enough.

Time after time last night the Millionaires hurled their famous fourman rushes at the Victoria defense whenever Skinner or Harris did manage to pilot their way through their shots were turned aside by Hec. The centre ice man, either Adams or MacKay, was taken care of by Meeking and this made a great hole in the attack.

On the offensive Victoria showed in spectacular fashion. The short snappy passes when close in on the nets had the supposedly invincible receman rushes by W. # Y.M.C.A. Broke All Previous Records In Boys' Work Department

O those acquainted with the work of the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A., in the past year, it will come without surprise to learn that in the year just completed that department has broken all records for membership and work done in the Victoria institution since its inception. Under Harold C. Cross, the genial Boys' Work Secretary, assisted by Messrs. Delmar Bat-trick and James McEwan, the department has grown to limits not touched before and in the month of December last no less than 569 boys stood enrolled in the Junior Department.

This figure is higher than ever attained by the junior section of the Y. M. C. A. here before, and by a very considerable margin. The boys were formed into clubs and groups, each under its own leader, while weekly re-unions were held to bring all groups of the junior and preparatory grades together for companionship and games. The work was divided into two main divisions, that of the employed boys and the of boys of school age; each division being equally successful along its While gymnastics and swimming formed an interesting part of the training, the year taught the boys much more, with an appeal made to every side of their natures to bring forth the good in each. The system of training, while promoting manly fitness and the best of health has made for a high standard of honor and promoted healthy companionship to a marked degree.

With that record tucked away behind them the boys this year are out to pass their own high mark, and every expecta-tion is that the work of the junior and preparatory section of the institute this year will set a new high level mark for the activities of the local members. At the "Open House" held recently, all groups staged demonstrations that amply showed the progress made by their members during the year.

Many new boys have joined over the year's end, and work is now to recom-mence seriously to get all classes in shape for the year of activity that promises ahead. While not much out-of-door work can be done for a month or so yet, the boys are making full use of the gym-nasium, swimming pool and the play rooms, and will be able to fill in the intervening time with useful practice until the Spring arriving gives opportunity for open air work. As in the past, many boys are being fostered by grown-ups, who defray the nominal fees charged for the training of such, and in this manner the Y. M. C. A. is reaching out to boys that would normally come under the "under-privileged" come under the under-privileged class; or those, whose advantages in life are lacking mainly through circumstances of birth and surroundings. In this connection there are many boys who would like to join the Y. M. C. A. if they can find a present of the surroundings. find a sponsor.

To meet this condition blanket memberships are held by the secretary of the Boys' Work Department for those, who would be willing in this manner to provide a year of happiness and good companionship for the less fortunate boys of

Nancy Tussles With Good Resolutions For the New Year

ANCY laid aside her pen and smiled happily; with great labor and much erasing she had just completed a list of New Year's good resolutions. Being thorough in all things, Nancy had gone further; she had drawn up a list of penalties to go with the list of resolutions, so that should the un-fortunate happen she would be filling a penalty if she broke a resolution.

The list was a work of art, and indeed was a reflection of the ingenious mind of its little originator. It varied from the ordinary bugbear of learning lessons to shutting the door without a slam. The last in full was as fellows:

> must not grumble. will be tidy always. will learn my lessons well.

will practice twice a day. I must keep the door shut.

The list of penalties was no less ingenious, but much less pleasant, for every penalty was the same, and the only variations occurred in the number of times that the sufferer had to perform the obligation; for Nancy had chosen for the penalty the writing of the line "New Year's Resolutions Were Made to be Kept, while the variety came in the number of times the imposition had to be written.

Having completed this duty of selfdetermination, Nancy arose with a feeling of relief, it was as if she had just acomplished a very sacred duty, and that done she was now free to play. The day proceeded and all went well. Time, and proceeded, and all went well. time again, Nancy took out the list of resolutions and gazed at it lovingly, until she had learned it by heart.

* Having completed her work for her mother in the early afternoon, Nancy was just about to leave the house to join a chum when her mother called her back. Without thinking Nancy began to grumble, and went into the house, leaving the door open after her as she went to do as her mother requested. The completion of particular errand left Nancy somewhat dishevelled, and without thinking she sat down at the piano for the first practice

Time was getting along, and Nancy found that if she went through her exeises twice she would not have any time left for play, so the second practice went unaccomplished. After supper that night Nancy was so tired, after a strenuous game of rounders, and many turns on a scooter, that she could not do her lessons well, and to cut a long story short, had broken every resolution on the fatal list before nightfall of the same day.

It was a sad little Nancy that counted up the penalties that she would have to up the penalties that she would have to perform to make herself "square" with that list of good resolutions once more. The number of times that Nancy wrote "New Year's Resolutions Were Made to be Kept" was exactly 100, but Nancy was true to that part of her programme and did the lines; submitting the result to her did the lines; submitting the result to her mother for inspection.

The next day Nancy escaped with but twenty lines to write, and in less than a week Nancy was keeping all her good re-solutions with a faithfulness that was a surprise not only to herself, but a surprise and a delight to her parents. But familiarity, it is said, breeds contempt, and sad to relate Nancy in three months' time was breaking resolutions so fast that she could not keep up with her self-imposed penal-ties, and what is still worse did not try. Little reader, if you have made good re-solutions, do without the penalties, for resolutions are hard enough to keep, by themselves.

Four Tops Will Compete for Trophy In Seamanship

AVING been presented with the Governor-General's cup for comthe Victoria Division of the Boys' Naval Brigade are now at work on a schedule which will govern the winning of that trophy. The cup is to be presented for the year to the division, or "Top," as it is called, which makes the highest aggregate points on a definite course of training to be commenced upon immedi-

The Brigade has been divided into tops, and each top will try to attain the highest number of points, and so be the holders of the cup for the year. The cup which was presented to the local Brigade by the Duke of Devonshire, the late Governor-General of Canada, is a handsome silver trophy, and competition will be keen to win the honor of its possession for the year to come.

With the new year well in hand, the Brigade will pursue active training until well on in the Spring when judging will be held on the results of the schedule now in force, to determine the holders of the lovernor-General's trophy. Drill and swimming are the two main activities of the Brigade at the moment, the privilege of using the swimming pool at the Armories on Fridays being of great advantage to the boys of the Brigade who are taking a very keen interest in all things aquatic. Indications are that the Brigade will have an even more success ful year than the one just completed, and will further uphold their record as one of the most progressive and efficient or-ganizations of the Boys' Naval Brigades of Canada.

What Are Your Plans For Year 1922? Essay Contest Commencing

HE old year, tottering along to the end of its twelve-month, span, has run its course, and we are now well into a bright new year. To be sure it will take us some time to get used to putting "1922" at the top of our letters, but that too will soon be a habit. How many of your hopes and fears were realized in the year just past, and what plans do you cherish for the fu-

Every time a year goes by, we have added that much to our life that has been lived and taken away as much from the life we have yet to go through; so it is important that each year should teach us something of worth, to recompense us for having passed through its three hundred and sixty-five days. How much did the old year teach you, little reader, and will you profit by the experience?

To get the most from life we should all try to live with some definite aim in view. Just now our aim, besides, of course, learning our lessons, should be to get as much wisdom from the storehouse of knowledge as time and adaptability will permit us to take. It is always interesting, and often profitable, to draw up a plan of campaign for ourselves at the beginning of the new year, and see how nearly we can come to achieving that which we have so set down.

As we are all fellow creatures, living much the same kind of a life, the plans of one should be of interest to another, and often in the plans of others we recognize that for which we are ourselves seeking and cannot find. Of course, some of our smaller brethren have plans which are bounded by a new set of bricks with which to build fairy castles, and a scarlet line of tin soldiers to line up and knock down again in mimic warfare, but that is not quite the type of plan that we should consider here.

The plan that would be of use to us is a scheme for developing the best that in us lies, for it is only by consciously try-ing to do just that that we can hope to succeed in most of the finer things of life. To promote, then, this exchange of ideas and plans for the new year The Times is this week announcing an essay contest along those lines. There will be no hard and fast rules, other than usual regulations governing compositions of any nature. Think what the year means to you and then write about it in a simple manner, so that others may have the benefit of your ideas and perhaps aid you in your turn.

The composition is open to all girls and boys of the city and district of fif-teen years of age and under, and all entries must be submitted by four o'clock on the afternoon of January 31. Essays should be limited to 350 words, but, of course, need not be that long unless its writer so desire. Write plainly in ink, on one side of the paper only, and do not forget to submit your name, age and address. Address all stories to The Times, and mark such "1922 Programme Con-

A prize of $5 will be awarded. Do not let your age deter you from joining the contest, as long as you are within the limits set, for age will be considered with due regard to the contribution by the Editor of The Times Children's Page, who will be the judge, and whose decision will be final in all cases. The successful essays and those so meriting it, will be published in these columns.

Kim's Game Makes Fun for Rainy Days

HESE are the days when we ma; expect to find rain coming to drive us indoors; when scooters and skidmobiles are reluctantly taken within, and we find ourselves at a loss to fill in the time as agreeably as we could readily manage in the open air. For such a time indoor games are interesting and often serve to turn a rainy day into a day of merriment.

Though it is as "old as the hills," Kim's game is a source of amusement that could be more often made use of on the rainy day. Any number can play Kim's game, but it will be better fun with four or five participating. To play Kim's game take an ordinary tea tray, or clear the top of a table, and place thereon a num-ber of articles. It does not matter what the articles are, so long as they be small and readily recognizable.

It is easier to commence with ten or so small objects, and to work up to greater things later, after a little practice. One person must always stay out of the game to set the tray and cover it, for after the objects are laid out they are covered and the players take their seats. Now the tray is uncovered for a minute by the clock, and then covered up again. In that time each player, who must be equipped with pencil and paper, must note as far as possible the contents of the tray and write down her or his list from memory, after the tray has been covered again.

Kim's game will be found to prove very interesting and is a great source of merriment, after a little practice. Of course, in time, as many as fifty articles may be exhibited, but that will take considerable practice to obtain any correct list therefrom. Kim's game is a study with the children of the Far East, where it is used extensively to teach observance. After a short while the eye becomes so trained that it will record a large number of articles shown in this manner, and in this brief space of time, and in so doing will train the mind to a degree of memory that is a useful aid in life. Little prizes and forfeits will enhance the game enormously.

The following advertisements were taken from many actually in print in various newspapers throughout the world:

Move to the Right Is Almost World-wide in Effect

in the major part of the Province prior to that date, but now the whole of Britich Columbia is operating on the continental plan.

A review of the majority of the countries of the world shows that the rule of move to the right is nearly world wide, and that by far the greater number of major nations are operated along that system. Great Britain of course is the notable exception, but on account of its insular nature, not with any detrimental effects, as in other places on the globe. The change in this Province has done away with many features that were a distinct nuisance, mainly that of traffic across the border line, which was always attended with a certain amount of uncertainty on the part of the drivers of such visiting vehicles. Then too, visitors from the United States would be perplexed with the rule existing here, and though no very serious accidents were recorded in the many years of keep to the left operation here, yet driving now will be far more comfortable all round, it appears.

Without Trouble.

The change was effected in Victoria and district with a lack of inconvenience and accident that is a great credit to the traveling public and more particularly to owners and drivers of auto vehicles. Through the co-operation of all the rule of the road was changed overnight, and the habits of a life time were reversed, without accident or untoward incident.

Of course the first few days of

of course the first few days of driving were of necessity slowed down considerably from the ordinary rate motion, but with the drivers becoming more secustomed to the will stop. Evenness of compression, the condition of valves, rings and ignition in each cylinder can also be tested by this method.

If you smell rubber burning, it is time to get very busy and find the short circuit. For usually the smell of burning rubber comes from a hot wire somewhere, causing the rubber insulation to smolder. Feel all the wires until you come to the hot one. The location of the short circuit is easy to detect in this way, and having localized the trouble it is usually fairly simple to see exactly where the trouble originates.

Busy Intersections.

The installation of a dummy policeman, a large steel pole with the caution "Keep to the Right" engraved on it, at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets recently was hailed with interest by the travelling public. On the eve-of the day that the dummy blue coat made its appearance, however, it was involved in an accident that sent it at once to the hospital for such dummies, the police repair station.

Now it is suggested that the dummy be equipped with head and tail lights and-be re-installed at its post of permanent duty. The advantage of dummy policemen, of course, is evident. They do not tire, they never fail in their appointed duty, and then they do not have to be paid. The use of the dummy policeman has much to recommend it, and its installation in larger numbers would be a welcome and a useful action, it is held.

The plan has been in vogue in all large cities for a large number of years, and in smaller cities on the American side of the line, and nothing but kind words are spoken of the system. Seattle is the nearest ready example of the project thus mooted, and Victorians will readily remember the precision with which traffic tie-ups are cleared in that city.

While in the main Victoria is a city of large and wide streets, yet the Unity of Language.

"In no other grouping of nations is the same unanimity attainable.

"One reason is that no other nations have to that extent the same unity of language; or the same unity of language; or the same unity of national aspirations, based on the ethics of Christianity, however much they may be laden down by material considerations.

"In a young nation it is of paramount importance that its people should possees and develop, a strong sense of its nationality, a faith in its destiny, and a confidence in its superiority, in at least some of its ingredient qualities.

"We venture to put forward the suggestion that the early founders and leaders of the United States believed it to be necessary to counteract any tendency of the British born among them to look back to the British lies. This could be effected by perpetuating the bitterness or hostility of the War of Independence, and by seizing every opportunity to keep pides.

Any one who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job.

There was no Burdock Blood Bitters in those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Now-a-days no one need endure the misery of boils.

Boils are simply evidences of the bad blood within coming to the surface and just when you get rid of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming. What you haye to do is take

There had been no serious breaks in lighting or water service, no law suits, and no serious crime. The lighting plant had paid its way and a 20 per cent reduction had been made in the charges. Two-engineers had reported upon water power. No satisfactory power could be secured hearer than Skeetz Falls, twelve and in the right of way would be prohibitive at the present time, he said.

with regard to teachers' salaries Trustee Smithe stated that he was in favor of paying efficient teachers well, but he did not favor putting in any such rate as that suggested by the Teachers' Association.

He stated that on the staff they had good teachers, very good and excellent. Salaries paid teachers last year were $21,860, of which Government grants returned $10,901. If the suggested increases were made according to the schedule submitted by the Teachers' Association it would mean an additional outlay of $6,000 or 31-7 mills increase in the taxes of the City of Duncan.

Ward Seven Ratepayers Hear Charges Against Proposal

The sewer debt question between Saanich and Victoria was last night aired at Tillicum School, at a meet-ing called by the Ward Seven Rates payers' Association, when Alderman Todd spoke at length on behalf of the City's point of view, generally con-fining his remarks to the North-west sewer, and greatly interesting the forty persons present.

Acting chairman Collis announced that Clerk Cowper would not be present, as expected, reading a letter from the Municipal Clerk in which he ascribed his absence to advice of councillors that his attendance before the election would surely be misconstrued by some. Mr. Cowper promised that if the ratepayers later, so desired, he would be glad to give them all the information he possessed. Incidentally Mr. Cowper's letter remarked that the matter was not the subject of a vote at the coming election, and acting Chairman Collis commented pointedly upon this statement.

Earlier History

"The first document which I saw on this matter of the North-west sewer was one never executed" said Adermian Todd, reading the first clauses, and noting the date as 1913, after remarking that unless other evidence showed intention clearly this would be worthless.

This agreement showed Victoria Saanich and Esquimait to be agreed as to the need of a sewer emptying into the Straits at Macaulay Point. A later document indicated the Saanich cost to be 14.3 of the total, with Esquimait paying 12.5 per cent, as arranged by the engineers, while a third called for the preparation of an agreement and reference of disputed points to a fourth party, "probably Councilman R. H. Thomson, of Seattle.

After the Stewart-Gleason mayorality contest, the speaker recalled, the agreement was lost sight of for several years, mainly because of difficulties in financing afflicting all public bodies.

In September, 1919, a letter from Clerk Cowper was received by the

In September, 1919, a letter from Clerk Cowper was received by the City. From this Alderman Todd read paragraphs asking the preparation of a written agreement on the original plan of 1913, accepting the City's bill of $46,225.59 and agreeing to pay 14.3 of the cost of further extensions necessary before service could be green a Saanich system of laterals.

could be green a Saanich system of laterals.

The City solicitor and engineer reported to the Council that the above figures were correct, and arising out of these letters an attempt was made to have the 1913 agreement finally signed. The speaker recalled that some aldermen had demanded legal action to secure signature of that original agreement but more moderate counsel' prevailed, and on July 13, 1920, the existing agreement was signed, which in its main aspects provided that, as the sewer had been constructed larger than originally intended, Saanich was willing to pay $46,22559 and interest from March 7, 1917, to date of payment, this to be within six months after the passage by the ratepayers of an authorising money by-law, or until the Municipality was otherwise released from the agreement. The by-law is to be re-submitted once in each year until passed by the voters.

Unthinkable Tactics.

When Alderman Todd arrived at this point Acting Chairman Collis asked, "What would the city do if the by-law is not submitted every year? There was not by-law before the ratepayers last year," Alderman Todd replied, such a contingency was unthinkable, and declared that he, with Alderman Sangster, had fathered the existing wording, and so with Alderman Sangster, had fathered the existing wording, and so brought upon himself the title of "The Saanich member of the City Council." He personally thought that, as the by-law was submitted in September, 1920, it would be in accord with the literal agreement if it was again voted upon within two years from that date.

Alderman Todd declared Esquimalt had completed her share of the agreement, and no sewer dispute whatever existed between that municipality and Victoria.

Men of Vision.

Men of Vision.

Speaking of broad policy, Mr. Todd said he personally thought it was wisdom to have done the work in the manner it had been. "Had the city, en years ago, gone ahead and laid smaller sewers without consulting saanich, you would eventually have and to duplicate that work for your-elves, an enormously expensive indertaking. The Councils of ten cears ago were far-sighted men," he Touching upon the Northeast sewer, Mr. Todd declared this to be complicated by Oak Bay's interest, but as neither Victoria nor Saanich Councils had ever agreed, among themselves, as to the proper status of this work, he thought it better not to discuss the matter.

It being interjected that Saanich owed over $94,000 for sewerage debts. Mr. Todd replied, "whether those figures be correct or not, the only matter to consider at this time is the Northwest Sewer debt, now $57,805, including interest, as that is the only sewerage service which is the sub-

Warmly Thanked. On motion of J. Waters the meeting passed a hearty vote of thanks to Alderman Todd for his explanation. In reply he assured the rate-payers that the Victoria City Council was most sympathetic with Saanich and her problems.

Denies Figures.

Mr. Waters then declared that, when the sewer scheme was originally broached, Saanich, as far as Royal Oak, had been "the apple of desire" to Victoria, and to make her borrowing powers wider the city "wanted to capture us."

"We have the word of that good man, Reeve Joseph Nicholson, that he had made an agreement with the City that the use of the sewer could be had, whenever wanted, for the sum of $19,000. I asked him, what sum do we pay until-that day? and Reeve Nicholson replied "none."

No Saanich Control.

Aspects of Northwest Sewer ex-

Aspects of Northwest Sewer extension construction costs were laid before the meeting, it being claimed that Victoria would have control of main extensions, while Victoria would have approval rights of all the sew-and would cut off connections if pay-ments which Victoria might claim from Saanich were overdue. It was asserted that, in all, Saar ich owed over $91,000 to Victoria and Oak Bay, growing rapidly by annual accretions of interest. "When the $121,000 before Saanich can ever

Northwest Sewer should be made available to all the ratepayers, Ernest Orr moved that the meeting demand of the Council that copies of the Northwest Sewer agreement, and data as to the indebtedness involved by endorsation of the by-law, be sent to all property owners in the area tributary to the proposed work, and to the various Ward Ratepayers' Associations of Saanich. This passed unanimously, and the meeting was then reminded that Alderman Todd had promised copies. Mr. Orr interjected, "those should be placed in hands which will check up the Reeve and Councillors next week during the coming campaign" and on the suggestion of Councillor Simpson the meeting decided to have copies of Alderman Todd's documents mimeographed for immediate distribution pending municipal action from Royal Oak.

Other Debts Mentioned.

It being reported that Comptroller Raymur had a long list of unpaid accounts against Saanich, ranging from $10 to $57,000, it was suggested that inquiry into such matters would be fair business, for the Ratepayers' Association to take up with vigor.

Glad of Delay. Councillor Simpson said he had hitherto believed the sewer by-law would be voted upon at the coming election, but in the face of the assertions made to the meeting, he was glad no vote was planned at this time, as it would provide time for an ample discussion.
